WEATHER—For Kentucky

HOPKINSVILLE KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1916.

VOL. 37—No. 237

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The Kentucky Press Association will meet in Louisville Dec. 29th.

Wilson carried North Dakota by 2620, the only Democrat to win in the State.

Did anybody expect wet committees to be elected in any of the 110 dry counties of Kentucky?

Gen. Pershing has not started to leave Mexico but new supplies are being sent to him.

A girl who was attacked by a man at Indianapolis, routed and drove him off with a hat pin.

Gov. Stanley has gone to Washington to be gone ten days and Lieut. Gov. Black is acting governor.

The people of Kentucky are ready for a vote on State-wide prohibition and it will be a bold politician who seeks to put it off any longer.

Wheat advanced 3 to 4 cents Tuesday and other food stuff went up upon the idea that the President will oppose an embargo.

John D. Archbold, president of the Standard Oil Co., of New Jersey, died Tuesday, aged 68. He was Rockefeller's right hand man.

Owners of twenty Kansas daily papers yesterday appointed a delegate to represent them before the Federal Trade Commission next week, in an effort to secure cheaper print paper.

"Fighting in France" at the Rex Tuesday was a real masterpiece. Manager Stockley is to be congratulated on bringing such an attraction to the city.

Miss Ruth McNeill, stenographer in the law office of Laffoon & Waddill at Madisonville, has filed an application in the circuit court at Dixon for license to practice law.

Frank M. Gilbert, 69 years old, for many years publisher of a daily newspaper in Evansville and once prominent in Indiana politics, died Saturday shortly after his return from Florida.

The leaders of the fourteen ladies' clubs of Hopkinsville met yesterday morning and decided to give a popular reception to Riccardo Martin, probably at the Elks Home, after his concert engagement on the evening of Dec. 18th. It will be a brilliant affair.

Mrs. Minna G. Scanlan, divorced wife of Thomas Scanlan, a miner, has filed suit at Cripple Creek, Colo., to compel her husband to pay her $45 a month alimony in legal tender. Scanlan for three months has paid the alimony in pennies. A month ago he sent 9,000 pennies, being a month in arrears. Mrs. Scanlan alleges he sent 5,000 pennies which had been soaked in molasses. It took nearly four hours to wash off the molasses, Mrs. Scanlan said.

Practically all of the Berlin newspapers discussed peace prospects and desires Tuesday in what looked like a concerted move. The Tageblatt went so far as to intimate that the recognition of the independence of Poland and the evacuation of Belgium would be a satisfactory basis for a business peace. Ambassador Gerard's return to Germany is believed to have some connection with the attempt to create a sentiment for peace, one paper suggesting that he may be the bearer of proposals.

THE ATHENAEUM.

The Athenaeum will meet to-night. W. T. Fowler will have a paper on "Thomas A. Becket" and Dr. Lewis Powell one on "The Origin of Man."

Preaching Sunday.

Rev. W. H. Hickerson will preach at Herndon next Sunday at 11 a. m. and at Pee Dee at 7 p. m.

South Africa is to undertake the making of toys.

DR. DURHAM IS REMOVED

As Road Commissioner From The Scates' Mill District.

TRIED IN FISCAL COURT

Big Crowd Attended the Meeting Tuesday and Many Arguments Made.

The Fiscal Court met in monthly session Tuesday and the most important matter to come up was the question of removing Dr. W. W. Durham from his position as a member of the County Road Commission from the northwestern section of the county. At the last meeting Dr. Durham was cited to appear and show cause why he should not be removed. A petition was filed with the court containing about 250 names of persons in that part of the county asking that he be removed because he had accepted the position of second assistant physician at the Western State Hospital and had moved into another portion of the county. The claim was set up that he held two salaried offices contrary to the constitution of the state. Dr. Durham appeared in person and was represented by Attorneys Jas. Breathitt, Thos. P. Cook, Frank Rives and Otho Anderson, all of whom made speeches for him and Dr. Durham made a statement himself and his attorneys filed a counter petition with 600 names asking that he be not removed. His attorneys took the position that neither of the positions held by Dr. Durham were "offices" under the constitution and Judge Breathitt read a decision from Lexington in the case of Wills vs. Scott, in which the Court of Appeals had decided that the superintendency of the Lexington State Hospital was not an "office."

J. D. Capps, representing the first petitioners, said the people needed and wanted a local representative and that Dr. Durham held a state appointment at $1200 and the other place that paid $3 a day, not exceeding $100 in one year. He said his time belonged to the state and he could not discharge the duties of the road commission.

Replying to this, Dr. Durham said his hospital duties were performed in the forenoon and he had more time to devote to the work than when he practiced medicine. Besides the commissioners were not engineers but attended only to executive duties.

County Attorney Ira D. Smith recommended to the court that the place be declared vacant, since it was evident that Dr. Durham had abandoned the district from which he was appointed and left a large number of dissatisfied constituents without local representation in the expenditure of $100,000. One member who moved out of his district promptly resigned and since Dr. Durham had not followed this precedent the court, without meaning any disrespect to him, should declare his place vacant and let the Christian County Good Roads Association meet as soon as possible and recommend a resident member of the same political party to represent that road district.

A motion was made to go into executive session to consider the matter further. The motion resulted in a tie and Judge Knight voted in the affirmative. In executive session the matter came to a vote and by a vote of 5 to 3 the position was declared vacant and the Good Roads Association asked to make a recommendation Dec. 12th. The vote stood: Ayes—Morris, Dade, Rives, Rees and Rogers. Nays—Moore, Hamby and Woodburn.

EVANGELIST WATERS AT DAWSON.

As a result of the Waters revival at Gracely, 22 persons signed cards announcing their intention to unite with some church. Rev. Bascom Waters went to Dawson where he is now engaged in a meeting and the first of January will start a meeting in Cadiz.

CRITICS WIN ON PREMIER

Unionist May Not Accept and Lloyd-George May Fall Heir to Place.

PREMIER ASQUITH QUILTS

Speeding Up of War Management Is Desired of New Cabinet.

London, Dec. 6.—Herbert H. Asquith last night resigned the premiership which he has held through eight stormy years of domestic and foreign history. The Unionist leader, Andrew Bonar Law, was summoned to the palace immediately after Mr. Asquith had departed and the King offered him the Prime Minister's commission, which he had just accepted from Mr. Asquith's hands.

Thus the Government crisis found a solution, which up to the hour of its announcement was considered the least probable of practical alternatives.

BONAR LAW UNDECIDED.

No announcement regarding Mr. Bonar Law's decision has yet been made, and there are some doubts whether he will accept the heavy responsibility. If he declines, it is considered certain that the honor will fall to David Lloyd-George. The continuation of the Coalition Cabinet with some changes in its membership, and the speeding up of the war management will be the policy in either event.

WAS FORMER FIREMAN

Clay Powell Who Died Monday Night Buried With Odd Fellows Honors.

Henry Clay Powell, a former member of the City Fire Department and a driver of one of the wagons, died at the Western State Hospital Monday night aged 55 years. He was sent to the Hospital about a year ago. He was buried from the residence of Frank Cox, on Elm St., yesterday afternoon. Deceased was a member of the Odd Fellows and Knights of Pythias Lodges and both orders attended in a body. The Odd Fellows had charge of the burial. The interment was at Riverside Cemetery.

He was unmarried and is survived by a brother, Zach Powell, and a sister, Mrs. Nannie Cox.

CASE OF VARIOLOID

Wife of Rev. C. E. Hutchinson, of Fairview, The Victim.

Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, of Fairview, wife of the pastor of the Baptist church there, is suffering from a case of varioloid and is in quarantine. The Hutchinson home is on the Todd county side of the town and the health officer from Todd county came out Tuesday and confirmed the diagnosis of Dr. W. S. Petrie, the attending physician, and ordered the quarantine. Mrs. Hutchinson is getting along nicely and is not sick much.

Road Meeting.

There will be an important road meeting at Fairview Dec. 8th, at 1 o'clock p. m., also at Edwards' Mill School House at 3 o'clock. Mr. Canine, the state man, will make a talk at both places in regard to cutting down the width of the Elkton road. All interested, please be on hand.

J. P. MYERS, Commissioner.

SUFFS SPRING BANNER COUP

Huge Yellow Flag With Question Dropped from Gallery During Reading Message.

Washington, Dec. 6.—President Wilson's address to congress was marked by a woman suffrage coup in the galleries—the first real show of organized militancy in the capitol—and by great demonstration of congratulation to the president upon his re-election in which many republicans joined with the democrats.

After acknowledging the prolonged cheers and applause which greeted his entry to the hall of the house, the president launched into his address, reviewing recommendations for railroad legislation, a corrupt practice act and had passed to his recommendations for a border government for Porto Rico. He had just about begun a sentence: "The present laws governing the island and regulating the rights and privileges of its people are not just"—when over the rail of the gallery where sat a party of woman suffrage leaders there fluttered down above the heads of an amazed assemblage of senators and representatives a silk banner of suffrage yellow, bearing in great black letters this inscription:

"President Wilson, what will you do for woman suffrage?"

JEALOUS OVER PORTO RICO.

The suffragists said afterward, it was their protest against the president's plea with congress for broader suffrage for the men of Porto Rico while he didn't mention their own cause in his address.

As the banner rippled down, the suffragists sat smiling and unperturbed watching the effect. A small page, raised on the arms of woman directly under the gallery, grasped the edge of the banner and snatched it down. President Wilson attracted by the stir, looked up from his reading and apparently taking in the situation at a glance, smiled broadly and without hesitation or interruption, turned his eyes back to his manuscript, and continued his address to its end without further demonstrations.

Policemen and gallery guards scurried to where the women were seated but contented themselves with watching the party, as if to prevent a further outbreak.

When the joint session was over the suffragists filed out unmolested by the police who said they had no orders other than to prevent any further infringement of the rules of the house. The banner remained a trophy with the sergeant-at-arms.

J. W. BLANKENSHIP

Formerly Well Known Citizen Dies at Poor Farm.

John W. Blankenship, an aged and well known citizen of this county, died yesterday morning about eight o'clock at the poor farm, near the city. He had been a sufferer from organic heart trouble and Bright's disease of the kidneys for about two years. Mr. Blankenship was about 86 years old. His home was for many years in the Gracely neighborhood.

EYE SERIOUSLY BURNED.

Carlos Alexander, of Lantrips, was in town Tuesday with one of his eyes bandaged and it was learned that he came near losing it last Friday. While working about a forge some sparks struck him in the eye almost destroying the sight.

LITTLEFIELD HIGHWAY

Name Officially Given to The Pike Connecting Pembroke and Fairview.

TO HONOR TEX. GENERAL

Appropriation Made To Continue the Employment of a Co. Agriculturist for '17.

The Fiscal Court Tuesday audited and approved and certified to the Auditor sheep claims aggregating $800, which will not be payable until spring.

Road and bridge claims to the amount of $600 and general claims amounting to $700 were ordered paid.

The public road from Pembroke to Fairview was officially designated as "Littlefield Highway," in honor of Gen. Littlefield, the Confederate veteran of Texas, who has taken the lead in the Jefferson Davis Memorial at Fairview, and guaranteed the erection of an obelisk 350 feet high.

The sum of $1000 for the appointment of a county agriculturist was appropriated for 1917. This position is now filled for the remainder of this year by Jas. A. McKenzie and the appropriation insures his employment for next year. The State will pay the rest of his salary of $1500.

WAITING NEW DEVELOPMENTS

Public Unwilling To Let The Katherine Denton Matter Drop.

The burial of the woman known as Katherine Denton has been postponed until Friday and the conviction is growing that the police are working on a clue that will throw more light on the case in the end. It is generally believed, at least by the people of the vicinity where the school house was burned, that there was a man in the case. The school house was a dilapidated affair with an old stove fire in it that had no pipe to it and yet a built in it and one report is that coal cinders were found in the stove, secured from the church nearby. The woman's eye glasses and corset staves were found in the ruins, making it certain that the woman was in the building as she said. The question not yet determined is who, if any one, was in the school house with her before the house burned late in the night. The authorities are getting very little assistance in clearing up the mystery from some who might be reasonably expected to take an interest in the matter. There is a decided indisposition in some quarters to discuss the matter. The woman evidently came from some city, probably St. Louis. If she was missing from a small community—even from a city as large as Evansville—the wide publicity that has been given the case would have found some one who knew her. The matter ought not to be allowed to rest as it is. There should be an inquest held and some legal inquiry made into the facts that led up to the tragedy. It is possible to find some one who knows more than has been told.

Will Keep House.

John H. Bell and his niece, Miss Susan Bible, left yesterday for Asheville, N. C., where Mr. Bell has rented a furnished house and will remain for four months. They took with them the family cook, Ann Bell, and the house boy, William Harris, col.

BROUGHT $16 AT OPENING

Highest Prices In Years Paid For Tobacco Tuesday at Cooper's.

ALL GRADES ARE STRONG

About 150,000 Pounds Sold The First Day With Many Buyers.

The opening of the Loose Floor tobacco market Tuesday was very satisfactory. Beginning at the Hancock Warehouse Co., sales were held at all of the six loose floors, closing at the Cooper warehouse in the afternoon. The aggregate was about 150,000 pounds and prices went as high as $15.25 for one lot sold on the West Floor and $16.00 for one sold at Cooper's. A big crowd was present and practically all of the 25 or 30 regular buyers were present.

The following report of the sale is as it was seen by Secretary H. H. Abernathy, of the Tobacco Board of Trade:

The Loose Floor held an opening sale on Tuesday 5th. This sale showed some of the excitement that the market was expecting. The loose floors claim that buyers making a purchase in the country and picking their crops should pay an average of $1.50 to $2.00 more than a sale of a similar amount of similar character would bring, if sold on the loose floor. If they have been doing that they must have paid some very high prices that have not yet been reported. The loose floor men claim that prices are entirely too low now, if the conditions of the market are understood. In the first place the European countries now at war did not make any tobacco this year, nor can they make it next year even if the war should end. The women and children are trying to make something to eat. Europe ordinarily makes the greater part of the tobacco that it uses. We only furnish about one-fourth so if they have to buy all they use from us the market should yet be elevated from $3.00 to $5.00 and not only is this the case but it is claimed that the embargo shuts out Germany and Austria Hungary, so if the war ceases both of these countries will be on the market and some very high prices will be paid.

The European, as well as all other countries, are forced to furnish their armies with tobacco. Individuals do not have to provide it. Now we have made the largest crop of tobacco ever produced and the question is whether we can do it again or not we have no stocks of old tobacco on hand it looks like the producer has an opportunity that seldom occurs in a life time.

The market showed a very excited condition, some of the buying interests making their first purchase of the season.

Trash $6.50 to $7.50
Lugs $7.50 to $8.50
Low Leaf $8.50 to $10.00
Medium Leaf $10.00 to $11.00
Fine Leaf $15.25 to $16.00
Sales will be held daily hereafter throughout the season.

PRIVATE SALES

Two Leading Farmers Sell Tobacco Crops at $11.50 and $12.00.

Some more big sales of tobacco have been made privately this week. The Kentucky Leaf & Transit Co. bought J. T. Garnett's crop of 100,000 pounds at $11.50 round, and also bought the crop of T. W. Garnett, about 20,000 pounds at $12 round. This is the best price paid for a crop of that size so far as has been reported. The same company has bought a good many crops at $11.

Like all the rest of us, Russia is paying a high price for Turkey.

In addition to Hughes' close shave in Minnesota there were several other eyelash finishes. New Hampshire, for instance gave Wilson 56 majority and a Republican governor in Arizona pulled through by 32 votes.
Congress is so close that they don't know yet who will organize the House.

Thomas Campbell, republican, was elected governor of Arizona at the recent election by a plurality of 32 votes over Governor George P. Hunt, according to official figures. The law providing for total prohibition was adopted by a majority of nearly 12,000 and capital punishment was abolished by a majority of 152 votes.

One of the curious results of the late election was the election of Simon Bamberger, a Jew, as Governor of Utah, which is controlled by the Mormon Church. Mr. Bamberger is a wealthy merchant of Salt Lake City, where for many years he has been held in the highest respect. In Idaho, where the Mormons are powerful, Moses Alexander was elected Governor some years ago.

Announcement of the opening at Chicago, within a few days, of the International Hobo College, offering courses for migratory workers in law, English, journalism, hygiene, mathematics and nature study, has been made. The College will be conducted under the auspices of the International Brotherhood Welfare Association, it was stated, and is fortified by an endowment given by James Eads
How, of St. Louis.

Dr. Henry Van Dyke, minister to The Netherlands, has resigned and probably will be succeeded by John W. Garrett of Baltimore, formerly minister to Argentina. Dr. Van Dyke, it was explained, has been concerned over his health for some time and also desired to return to his literary work after being abroad four years. The resignations of Thaddeus A. Thompson, minister to Columbia, and William H. Horn-brook, minister to Siam, are announced.

Mayor Cornelius Burns, president of the New York state conference of mayors, in a letter to Gov. Whitman, called attention to the existing high price of foodstuffs and urged the governor to aid the movement to bring about reduction by boycott of certain articles. In the letter, Mayor Burns says that it has been determined that eggs shall be the first article taken up in this lower price movement and that the time of commencing the campaign shall be Wednesday, Dec. 6.

Eighty-six persons were killed and forty-one injured during the hunting season which closed Dec. 1 in fifteen states. The figures were compiled by the Chicago Tribune which compared them with 59 dead and 66 injured for last year and 111 dead and 126 wounded two years ago. Carelessness on the part of the hunters accounted for many of the accidents. Many of the victims were mistaken for deer.
Michigan leads in the number of dead with 22, Illinois is second with 13, and Minnesota third with 12.

EASY TO IDENTIFY LUMBER

Leading Producers Have Adapted
System for Which There Has Long Been a Demand.

Some of the leading lumbermen of this country have long recommended some system of marking lumber by which its origin and character may be indicated. A dozen or more of the largest companies, principally those handling long-leaf pine, are now marking their product so that it may be readily identified by those engaged in buying and selling lumber. The marking is said to be a great convenience and to prevent substitution of inferior grades. Another progressive step on the part of the lumber manufacturers is the adoption by the Southern Pine association of the "density" rule originally formulated by the United States forestry service, and in use for some time by the isthmian canal commissoin in making purchases of structural timbers. This, together with the recent visual test methods for distinguishing long-leaf yellow pine, puts the inspection of heavy timbers on a scientific basis so much desired by the structural timber user.
In addition to adopting this rule,
the Southern Pine association recommends to its subscribers that each piece of timber be branded at the mill according to grade.

NATIVES BREED FINE CATTLE

Under European Direction Matabele
Are Being Taught the Fine Principles of the Game.

Away in far Matabeleland the natives are engaged, under European direction, in fostering the higher culture of cattle. It is said to be one of the finest cattle regions in South Africa. A number of breeders of cattle have been engaged for a number of years in enlisting the cooperation of native chiefs, and at a cattle show a few weeks ago striking victories were won by the Aberdeen-Angus cattle. A two-year-old bull of the breed, Enochdhu of Hanley, won the championship for the best bull of any breed in the yard, and in the group class the premier award was taken by a group of the Aberdeen-Angus breed. A second prize winner in the old bull class was three-year-old Hunter, exported to South Africa two years ago, which was, however, beaten in his class by a bull bred by the Cape government at their farm at Ermelo, Cape Town.

USE FOR MANTLE SUPPORTS.

The used supports for upright gas mantles can be utilized on a water faucet as a strainer, and also to prevent splashing. Remove the wire ends from the sheet-metal part or sockets which hold them; place the cylindrical part containing the screen over the end of the faucet.
Hold it in place by reinserting the wires in the sockets in the new and reversed position. Sometimes an extra turn of the wire is required to prevent slipping down.

Though this strainer is not fine enough to filter out bacteria, it will serve many uses where particles of dirt and weeds get into the water.

The concern which persistently and consistently advertises brings to itself great reward in the form of increased business. Fences, rocks and trees are covered with print and palat. The shower of advertising in the shape of handbills is incessant. They are put into one's hand at every step—at the church door and in hotels, in public vehicles, thrust under private doors and sent by millions through the mails.

Glittering Advertising Maze.
The only road to commercial success leads through a glittering maze of advertising.

Great boats, bearing on their sails huge advertisements, sail up and down all season before crowded watering places, and now and then a rain of advertisements comes from a wandering aeroplane.

When daylight falls the magic electric light throws advertisements on large screens in conspicuous places in both large and small cities.

Shout From Mountain Top.
Climb to the mountain top and shout for a solution of the retail mail order evil, and back over the hills will come the answer in the echoing cry "Advertise!"

The life, the fame, the success, the hope and future of commerce lie in that one magic word.

Advertising is unquestionably the weapon which will make the community worthless for the retail catalogue houses, but it is not absolutely necessary that printed matter be the whole thing.

Personal and individual advertising is most helpful. It is such advertising that gives retail mail order houses their trade.

And through advertising the local merchants can deprive them of much of the trade that comes from their community.

CASTORIA

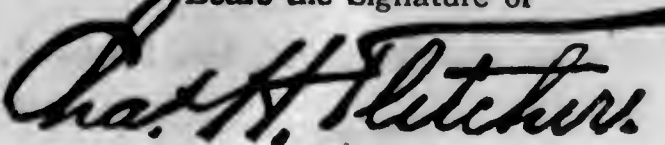

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. HOW RED CROSS SEALS
IDEA CAME INTO USE

Originating in Norway, Method Was Taken Up Here Nine Years Ago.

Over $3,250,000 has been raised by Red Cross Christmas Seals in the last eight years, and yet many people who will buy these holiday stickers at this ninth annual sale do not know how this idea originated.

While Red Cross Seals really date back to the Civil War when "Charity Stamps" were first used, the first campaign to sell holiday stickers for the tuberculosis fight was only nine years ago in Delaware. Miss Emily P. Bissell, of Wilmington, read an article by Jacob Riis describing stamps used for tuberculosis work in Norway, and she conceived the idea of a similar plan here. Single handed, she launched a sale which resulted in $3,000 in clear money. When Miss Bissell tried to convince the American Red Cross that this idea should be made national as a peace activity of that society, she met with opposition, but finally persuaded the authorities, with the result that on an investment of a few hundred dollars $135,000 worth of Seals were sold in 1908 and the great national campaign was launched. Since then the sale has gone forward by leaps and bounds, until now the Red Cross Seal is an institution in the United States, and offers to every one a chance to help in the people's fight against the people's disease. Last year over 76,000,000 Seals were sold, and this year the American Red Cross and The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, who conduct the sale, are out for a 100,000,000 sale or $1,000,000 for the Tuberculosis War.

The policy on which the sale is conducted is that the money, except for the deduction of legitimate expenses, shall remain in the community where the Seals are sold.

RHEUMATISM MAKES YOU FEEL OLD

Pains and Aches Yield To Sloan's Liniment, The Family Friend.

When your joints become stiff, your circulation poor, and your suffering makes you irritable, an application of Sloan's Liniment gives you quick relief—kills pain, starts up a good circulation, relieves congestion. It is easier and cleaner to use than musky plasters or ointments, acts quickly and does not clog the pores. It does not stain the skin.

You don't need to rub—it penetrates.

Certainly fine for rheumatism, stiff neck, sciatica, lame back, toothache, etc. For sprains, strains, bruises, black and blue spots, Sloan's Liniment reduces the pain and eases the soreness.

Its use is so universal that you'll consider Sloan's Liniment a friend of the whole family. Your druggist sells it in 25c., 50c. and $1.00 bottles.

Sloan's Liniment
KILLS PAIN

Life as It Really Is.
Life is just what we make it. It is no mystery, save to the mindless; no task, save to the indolent; no suffering, save to the sinful.—Porter.

Milk at Former Price.

Owing to the tendency towards a reaction in the price of dairy feed, I find that I can continue my former price of ten cents a quart for milk.
C. R. ATKINS.

Strength Test.

A party of English officers serving at the Dardanelles made a wager one day as to which smelled the loudest, a goat or a Turk. To settle the wager a goat was brought into the colonel's tent, and the colonel fainted. When the colonel was revived they brought a Turk into the tent, and the goat fainted.

Texas Woman Near Death

Wills Point, Tex.—In a letter from Wills Point, Mrs. Victoria Sparrows says: "I was afflicted with womanly troubles, had a dreadful cough, and suffered awful pains. I certainly would have died, if I had not been relieved by taking Cardui. Now I am stronger, and in better health than I ever was in my life. I can't say half enough for this great medicine." Do you need relief? Buy Cardui for your womanly troubles. Its record of successful use is your guarantee. Thousands of women have been led to health and happiness by Cardui. It will truly help you. NEVER AFRAID OF CONTAGION

John Howard, Father of Modern Philanthropy, Had Faith in God and Personal Cleanliness.

John Howard, the father of modern philanthropy, was born in London, September 2, 1726. He died on the 20th of January, 1790, while on a mission of mercy, at Kherson, south Russia. Like John Wesley, he ate no flesh and drank no wine or spirits. He bathed in cold water daily, ate little and at fixed intervals, and followed Benjamin Franklin's maxim of "Early to bed and early to rise." Innkeepers would not welcome such a guest, but Howard, who was a man of considerable means, was no niggard and paid as though he had fared sumptuously on meat and wine. Howard, who visited the most loathsome prisons, took no more precautions—as this was more than a century before our exploitation of germs and bacilli—to repel contagious diseases than to smell at a vial of vinegar while in an infected cell, and washing and changing his apparel afterward. He was often pressed for his secret means of escaping infection and usually replied: "Next to the free goodness and mercy of the Author of my being, temperance and cleanliness are my preservatives."

Stop That Cough.

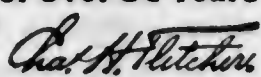

A hacking cough weakens the whole system, drains your energy and gets worse if neglected; your throat is raw, your chest aches and you feel sore all over. Relieve that cold at once with Dr. King's New Discovery. The soothing pine balsams heal the irritated membranes, and the antiseptic and laxative qualities kill the germs and break up your cold. Don't let a cold linger. Get Dr. King's New Discovery today at your Druggist's, 50c.—Advertisement.

Insect Travelers.

Ship cargoes are often responsible for the introduction of quite new species of insects in different lands. Banana bunches often hide poisonous reptiles and insects which travel long distances, only to bite or sting the hand of some receiver of fruit. Often they escape alive and breed their kind. Many venomous snakes have thus been introduced into lands where none existed before. Strange creatures have been imported on the blooms of orchids, and West Indian insects have traveled in Easter-lily blossoms. Destructive moths migrate in fruit ships. Flying insects often follow ships. One curious case was that of a vessel from the tropics followed by a swarm of butterflies. Out of sight of the shore, they hid in the cabins and hatches emerging 40 days later when the ship reached England. This originated quite a new species of butterfly in the British Isles.

To Remove Glass Stoppers.

It often happens that a glass stopper becomes obdurate and refuses to come out, yielding neither to persuasion nor force. Next time it occurs, try holding the neck of the bottle in hot water until the neck is thoroughly heated. Then drop a few drops of oil on it where it fits into the bottle; leave it stand for five minutes, and you will find that the stopper will come out easily.

FRED HARRIS KILLS SELF

Young Man Near Trenton Ends His Life With a Pistol.

Trenton, Ky., Dec. 6.—Fred Harris, a young man about 19 years of age, was out with several of his friends Monday visiting and about 9 o'clock bade his young lady friends good night and left for home in company with two young men. Later they separated, Harris telling his friends that he was going to leave for good and they would never see him again. He failed to reach his home before day and his father and mother arose early and while looking around for him saw his horse near a cabin and went to the cabin and tried to get into the house, but before they succeeded heard a shot and upon entering found that the boy had shot himself through the head, causing instant death. No cause is known for the suicide. His father, Robert Harris, lives five miles South of Trenton and is one of the best citizens of the county.

NORTHEASTERN HOPKINS COUNTY HAS A CYCLONE

Three Homes Destroyed and Several Persons Seriously Injured.

Madisonville, Ky., Dec. 6.—A cyclone passed through the northeastern section of Hopkins county in the Vandetta neighborhood this afternoon, blowing away residences, barns, fences, telephone poles, injuring many people and causing thousand of dollars damage.

The extent of the damage could not be ascertained late tonight because all of the telephone lines in that section were down.

It was known that the homes of Rufus Jordan, Leslie Hawks and Mrs. P. W. Demoss were destroyed. At the Jordan home both parents were badly injured, as well as several of the children and the mother of Mr. Jordan is said to be in a very serious condition.

JOE HUFFAKER SHOT BY A CRANK

Man Seeks Aid in Prosecuting Woman, and Uses Gun When Refused.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 6.—Joseph M. Huffaker, commonwealth's attorney for 15 years, was shot and seriously wounded late Tuesday as he was leaving his office in the Jefferson county court house by Edward J. Weidekamp, 23, who had sought his aid in redressing a grievance.

Weidekamp appeared in Mr. Huffaker's office demanding his assistance in sending to the penitentiary a woman he claimed was trying to have him sent to the insane asylum.

Telling the man he could do nothing for him, Mr. Huffaker left his office with Weidekamp following. Weidekamp fired after both had reached the hall. One bullet entered Mr. Huffaker's right eye, but it is not thought the wound will prove fatal. Weidekamp was arrested and is being held for examination.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS.

Henry Van Dyke says, that if Christmas is to be a single day of generosity, ransomed from the dull servitude of a selfish year, it seems not much more durable than the little toys one buys of a faker on the street corner. If, however, every gift is a token of personal thought, a friendly feeling and unselfish interest in the joy of others, then the thought, the feeling and the interest may remain after the gift is made.

Just so the little gifts in the Anderson-Fowler Drug Store were selected, to express the personal thought and interest of the sender.

Your gift is waiting for you. Advertisement.

FACING HIS FATE

By Inez Lucile Botkin

(Copyright, 1918, by W. G. Chapman)

"Lost something?"
"Yes, a small memorandum book."
"Is that it?"
"Thanks," bowed Nelson Page, but there was no fervor in his gratitude. Less than from any person in the world was he inclined to accept a favor from, or be under obligation to the man who restored to him his lost property—Cyrus Moore.

Six months previous, a stranger, in need of work and with a dead past to which he never alluded, Page had drifted into the little mining town of Parato and had remained there since. A rich, but close, old fellow owned the hotel and the two principal stores in the place, and saw in the intelligent and well-appearing stranger the person he needed to act as bookkeeper and manager of his varied interests for a reasonable compensation. Page was industrious, reticent and entirely satisfactory to his employer. He was regarded as a man with a hidden history, glad to buy himself from past mistakes or misfortune in this isolated corner of the world.

It was, indeed, true that Page had a dark secret in his young life, and that he was an exile in hiding on that account. He was fully content with settling down into obscurity. He was even more satisfied when he became acquainted with Ruth Mortimer. She taught a district school a few miles from her home and lived near it with her father. The latter had a mining claim which brought in small and spasmodic returns, was in debt to Moore for money borrowed on his home and, but for the help of Ruth, could not have eked out a living.

It was the first dawning of love for these two souls. To the earnest, innocent girl it was all happiness and faith. With Page, however, a dull cloud shadowed. He felt that he was a traitor to gentle, loyal Ruth in concealing from her the secret of his life. To enlighten her, however, was to place a heavy burden upon her, and would she understand?

Moore had been his rival, but, more latterly, plainly discerning the preference of Ruth for Page, he had seemingly accepted the circumstances philosophically. He feigned to be courteous, but there was a sinister glitter in his eyes at times that warned Page that there was deadly purpose and enmity back of the subdued manner of the man.

"The Inference is Plain—You Are the Man."

Especially on that day when Moore returned the lost memorandum book did Page observe an expression of crafty, sinister meaning cross his face. Page glanced within the book. His lips quivered as he recognized that some folded newspaper clippings had been disturbed. His lips set firm. He hastened after Moore and halted him.

"I wish to ask you," he spoke in a steady but constrained tone—"you looked over this book?"

"Its contents only," returned Moore coolly. "Naturally, as they might indicate the owner."

"And you learned?"

"That you are a 'wanted' man. Those clippings tell of the public offer of a large reward for information regarding one 'Elston Revere.' The inference is plain—you are the man."

"What use do you intend to make of the information?" persisted Page.

"Simply, it suggests to me a proffer to you. We all have our pasts. Of course, I am anxious to know that the daughter of my old friend, John Mortimer, marries a man worthy of her. I might write to this lawyer advertising for you in the East to learn why you are 'wanted.'"

The inference was obvious. This man was his enemy. He held his secret in his keeping. Page had showed sudden resolution. He looked him steadily in the eye.

"You claim an interest in the welfare of the Mortimers?" he said.

"Surely," declared Moore.

"Then come with me."

Page led the way to the Mortimer home. Father and daughter were together in the little parlor. Ruth looked anxious as she noted a deadly smile in the face of her lover, as though he were suffering mental anguish.

"My friends," spoke Page speedily, "I have something to tell you that, perhaps, I should have told before. I came here something more than a stranger—a fugitive. I was forced to flee from my home in the East a year ago because I killed a man."

John Mortimer gave a great gasp. A covert gleam of satisfaction shot from the eyes of Cyrus Moore. Ruth swayed in her chair and covered her eyes with her hands to deaden the terrible shock of the announcement just made.

"It was in a quarrel, not of my seeking, with a friend. He assaulted me with his cane. I simply defended myself. I had to, or cruelly take severe punishment. I aimed a blow at his uplifted fist. It landed on his throat. He sank like a spent shot. I heard someone coming. I hid. I heard a man say 'He is dead!' I lost my head and fled. That is all."

"And you are innocent?" spoke Ruth, coming to his side—"surely there was no murder in your heart."

"Today, this hour," pursued Page, "I have made a resolution: For weal or woe, to return to my old home and face my fate."

"It is right," murmured Ruth; "and remember one thing, that, though it claims your life, I am your spirit bride to all eternity."

So Elston Revere went his way to free his mind. Twice, amid her keen anxiety, Ruth wrote to him. There came no answer. She became pale and dispirited. How was she to know that crafty Cyrus Moore had intercepted his letters—Cyrus Moore, who had her worried father in his power and pressed hard his money claims.

Gradually he was forcing the old man to influence Ruth to favor his suit. And one night Mr. Mortimer told Ruth plainly that they would be homeless but for the indulgence of Moore.

"Revere has forgotten you or, is under the spell of the law," he declared. "I shall wait," said Ruth firmly. "If he lives or dies, I shall never wed another."

She sat at the window one evening filled with painful thought, her hope and courage well-nigh gone. Moore was a visitor and sat planning great things for her father in connection with a mine he had just purchased. He fancied that Ruth was to be dazzled with this important talk, but her ears were deaf.

To him—but not to a quick footstep on the garden path—how it vibrated in her heart of hearts! The next moment Elston Revere was at the threshold and she was in his loving arms.

His wondrous story began with three auditors. There were only two when he concluded.

He was a free man, and guiltless. He had never killed his friend. The advertisements did not seek to apprehend him as a fugitive from justice, but as heir to a great estate, that of his uncle.

And Ruth shared it, as his loving wife, and John Mortimer, in a beautiful Eastern home, while Cyrus Moore and his evil designs were forgotten.

Speed of American Spending.
Pleasure is limited by the time to enjoy it; in enjoyment, time is more than money.

It is forgetfulness of this fact which makes much of our American spending banal and sterile. With much money to spend and few hours in which to spend it we become addicted to quick, concentrated, expensive pleasures. We cannot imitate the placid, fruitful economy of the Teuton, who takes his beer and music inexpensively and at his leisure. Nor are we like that abstemious German professor who, on his vacations, traveled on the slowest Bummelzug because that way the joyous trip lasted longer. The meteoric flights of our tourists through Europe are in point; the automobile, also, illustrates the nervousness and swiftness of our pleasures. Motoring is broadening and delightful, but we are rushing into this amusement with more than our usual national abandon, and hardly even find time to speed. When a pleasure becomes the vogue, conveniences and even necessities are sacrificed to it. We are like those travelers of old who sold their lands to see other men's—Harper's Magazine.

Dust.

We have often been told of the enormous amount of energy stored in coal which we are unable to use and the truth of this statement has recently had the strangest proof at a Sheffield munition works.

A turner found a scrapped, imperfect shell on the waste heap in the yard, and placed it in the blacksmith's fire, intending to use it as a foot warmer during breakfast time.

He didn't know that after the shell had been punched a small quantity of coal dust had entered the cavity, and in the fire this dust became converted into gas as the metal grew red hot. Failing, in its rapid expansion, to gain a sufficiently wide outlet, the gas burst the shell.

A piece of the metal as large as a man's fist was blown completely through the body of a youth standing near, and, passing on, it knocked down a second man.—The Little Paper.

Modern Travel.

"Did you come home in the trolley, Ethel?"

"Yes, mother."

"But how did you keep your white dress so clean? The seats usually are so dirty."

"Oh, it was so crowded, mother, I was in somebody's lap most of the time."

Praying Made Easy.

Mechanical devices for repeating prayers are familiar in the East, but they are outdone in saving of labor by the "prayer flags" of Tibet. These are suspended on long lines, sometimes reaching across a river. As long as they are moving in the breeze they are supposed to be recording prayers for the benefit of those who put them up.

JELLY OF FINEST QUALITY

How Delicacy Should Be Made If One Would Have It at Its Best.

The canning-club specialists of the States' Relations service for the northern and western states recommend that the following points be observed to make certain that jelly will be of good quality. After the fruit has been boiled and the texture broken down it should be poured into a jelly bag and permitted to drain for a considerable time. Forcing the juice from the pulp will cause cloudy jelly. When the juice has been collected, place two teaspoonfuls of cold unsweetened fruit juice in two teaspoonfuls of grain alcohol and mix by shaking gently. Allow it to settle for one-half hour, preferably in a glass tumbler. If a jellylike substance collects in the bottom of the mixture it is evidence that pectin is present and the juice is suitable for jelly making. When the test shows absence of pectin, the white portion of orange peel, apples or green citron mellow may be added to the juice to supply the necessary pectin. Twelve ounces of sugar added to a pint of juice will make a jelly of the proper firmness and texture. Jelly is ready to be poured into the glasses when two rows of drops form on the end of a paddle or on the edge of a spoon held sideways.

Bolivian Finances.

The 1916 budget estimates of Bolivia, as published in the West Coast Leader, place the expenditures at $8,700,000 (in round numbers) and the revenues at $5,600,000, leaving a deficit of $3,100,000. Deducting the discount on salaries recently authorized by the Bolivian government, amounting to $600,000, a deficit of $2,500,000 remains. Adding to this the 1915 deficit of $1,400,000, there is a total deficit of $3,900,000, which is to be provided for by an issue of customs warrants to the amount of 10,000,000 bolivars, or $3,893,000.

I also know some country women who can't get their husbands to put running water in the house, who cook on old-fashioned—and broken—stoves, in inconvenient, badly-arranged kitchens, who have neither vacuum cleaner, fireless cooker, dishwasher, clothes wash, or anything else to make work easy. CHICKEN PIE WORTH WHILE

Recipe That Has Been Long in Use and Can Be Recommended as Excellent.

One chicken-boned (reserve bones to make stock), one-quarter pound bacon, one-half pound sausage, one or two hard-boiled eggs. Cut the chicken into joints and place on bones with an onion, one or two peppercorns, a blade of mace, and a little lemon rind. Simmer for three or four hours. Pack chicken in layers in a pie-dish along with sausage, bacon, hard-boiled eggs and seasoning; half fill with the stock. Pinky pastry for covering: One-half pound flour, one-quarter pound butter, one-half teaspoonful baking powder, water, pinch of salt. Method: Mix flour and baking powder; add the butter cut in small pieces, and the salt. Make into a stiff paste with water. Form paste into a long piece; roll it out. Fold in three equal pieces. Turn the paste round and repeat rolling and folding two and one-half times. Roll out paste a little larger than the pie-dish. Cut a strip off and line rim of pie-dish. Cover top with large piece. Make a hole in top for ventilation. Use scraps of paste to make a rose and leaves for decoration. Brush over with beaten egg. Bake in hot oven at first for half an hour. Then continue for one and one-half hours in a more moderate heat.

ROUND STEAK AT ITS BEST

Proper Method of Preparation Has Much to Do With the Appetizing Quality of Meat.

Lay out in a hot iron frying-pan three thin slices of fat salt pork, three by four inches, and add one onion peeled and cut in thin slices. Cook, stirring constantly until broken. Wipe a 2½-pound slice of round steak, put in frying pan, pour over ½ cupful of cold water and add one-fourth teaspoonful of salt. Bring quickly to the boiling point, cover closely, remove to back of range, and let simmer slowly until tender. Remove steak to hot platter and strain stock (there should be one cupful). Melt one tablespoonful of butter, add two tablespoonfuls of flour and stir until well blended; then pour on gradually, while stirring constantly, the hot stock. Bring to the boiling point, let boil two minutes, season with salt and pepper and pour over and around the steak. Garnish with baked stuffed tomatoes around the edge, and with overlapping slices of tomatoes and sprigs of parsley in the center.

Beef Ramekins.

Take one-half pound of cooked beef, two cupfuls of mashed potatoes, one teaspoonful of minced parsley, one teaspoonful of chopped gherkins, salt and pepper to taste, and gravy or sauce to moisten. First mash some boiled potatoes finely so that they will be free of lumps, adding one teaspoonful of butter and sufficient hot milk to make them soft and creamy. Cut the meat into dice, freeing it from skin and gristle. Mix it with the parsley and gherkins and enough sauce or gravy to moisten all well. Fill ramekins three parts full of the mixture. Cover the meat with potatoes, heating it well in the center and marking it neatly with a silver fork. Bake for ten minutes in a hot oven or until heated through and well browned.

Chicken à la Monte Carlo.

Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in an earthen dish or casserole with one carrot, three onions sliced, two bay leaves, salt, pepper and some thyme. Add a young, fat fowl, cut into joints and let it get brown. Then add one pint of consommé and cover air-tight. Cook three-quarters of an hour. It must simmer all the time. If the fowl is old, it will take longer to cook. Add two tablespoonfuls sherry, a dozen potato balls fried in butter, a dozen button mushrooms and some chopped parsley. Let it cook ten minutes more and serve in the sauce dish or the china of it will be lost.

Bubble Pudding.

Put one pint of milk on to heat in a double boiler. Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch in two of cold milk and stir it into milk. Then add the yolks of two eggs well beaten and one tablespoonful of sugar. Whip rapidly for a moment. Remove from fire and pour into a buttered mold or bowl. Cover closely and boil one hour. Serve with lemon sauce.

Canned Grapes.

Wash the bunches, pick off the firm grapes, and pack them into glass jars as tightly as possible without crushing. Then steam the jars as directed for canning peaches by the steaming method until the grapes are thoroughly heated; this is a rule usually taken from 20 to 30 minutes.

Good Filling of Beans.

Press cold baked beans through a colander; add two tablespoonfuls of horseradish to each cupful of beans. Put between very thin slices of brown bread with butter and a little prepared mustard. Cut in fancy shapes.—Yorkers Magazine.

Using Paraffin.

If paraffin is used on top of jellies and jams, when it is removed from the jar, wash it, melt it and strain it through coarse cotton, such as a suit bag. It is then ready to use again.

Laundry Bit.

To wash scorched goods, boil them in a mixture of one part soap and one teaspoonful turpentine in a gallon of milk.

Dumb Chills and Fever.

Douglasville, Tex.—"Five years ago I was caught in the rain at the wrong time," writes Miss Edna Ruthford, of Douglasville, "and from that time was taken with dumb chills and fever and suffered more than I can tell. I tried everything that I thought would help, and had four different doctors, but got no relief, so I began to take Cardui. Now I feel better than in many months." Cardui does one thing, and does it well. That's the secret of its 50 years of success. As a tonic there is nothing like it. As a remedy for women's ills, it has no equal. Try it! Price $1.00.—Advertisement.

Storms Felt In Sea's Depths.

That the sea may be disturbed by gales to a depth equal to 350 times the height of the waves produced is a conclusion reached by the United States hydrographic office from laboratory experiments. At a depth of nearly 4,000 feet, an ocean cable crosses a depression in the ridge separating the basins of the North Atlantic and the Norwegian sea, and this cable is known to have been moved in storms. Violent tempests must be felt even at much greater depths.

Sloan's Liniment Eases Pain.

Sloan's Liniment is first thought of mothers for bumps, bruises and sprains that are continually happening to children. It quickly penetrates and soothes without rubbing. Cleaner and more effective than musky plasters or ointments. For rheumatic aches, neuralgia pain and that grippy soreness after colds, Sloan's Liniment gives prompt relief. Have a bottle handy for bruises, strains, sprains and all external pain. For the thousands whose work calls them outdoors, the pains and aches following exposure are relieved by Sloan's Liniment. Wyoming's Mineral Wealth.

Among the undeveloped resources of Wyoming are bituminous shale, volcanic ash, graphite, asphaltum, manganese ores, bentonite, tin, salt, blis-muth, and, perhaps most important, phosphate rock, on which the future of American agriculture may largely depend. It is estimated that more than 1,250,000,000 acres in Wyoming are underlain by workable phosphate deposits, a phosphate area greater than that of any other state.

KING IS DEAD LONG LIVE KING

Football Retires and Basketball Now Occupies The Stage.

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETICS

Season Now Opening With Good Prospects For Winning Results.

Old king football is dead. Long live the king. The last sad rites were said over the old monarch, out at the High School and every one is glad that his inglorious and ill-fated rule is at an end. Everybody is full of pep and the Orange and Black will go forth toward the West Kentucky Basketball championship, with every hope of success. Last year's team had a successful season, but the honor of the school and the town demands that each season shall be better than the one that went before.

Coach Mallory is enthusiastic over the prospects of a successful season and is overjoyed at the interest shown by the student body. But the way of a Coach is a hard one. He is blamed for every disaster, and unless the student body remain loyal to him and the team no one can hope for success. The wise graduate or the equally wise student goes about knocking the team and running down the coach is doing all in his power to spread discord and discontent in the team and bring about ultimate disaster. If he will throw away his hammer and get a horn he will find life is more pleasant for everyone else and for himself as well, also that the sun still shines and that the judgment Day has not yet arrived. Don't be a quitter, cut out your knocking and be a booster. Catch the Hopkinsville spirit and keep it. Don't give some sneering ironical answer to the question of why we didn't win the football championship, but do all you can to keep the Orange and Black from suffering another defeat in any form of athletics this year. Let's raise our standard. Let's do things.

There is as good material to build a basketball team out of at Hopkinsville High School as there is anywhere, and if that material will come to practice faithfully, and if the students will back up the team as faithfully as they did the football team, success is assured.

No interscholastic games have been scheduled until after the holidays, but a tournament to decide the school championship will be held in the near future. Each class is already busy getting out its best in the hope of winning this trophy. Perhaps a hint would not be amiss. If some one would offer a prize to be given to the class winning the school championship, interest would be raised to the highest pitch and thus aid materially in the success of the varsity.

If the town people will back up the team, the school promises them that it will furnish a team that will make any in the State get on a hustle to beat. With Capt. Torian back and a bunch of promising freshmen and sophomores and several subs from last year's team, Coach Mallory will start in to build a real team, and to teach real scientific basketball. Let's get behind him and let the State know that we are still on the map. Indications point to Clarksville having a basketball team, and with our old rival seeking new worlds to conquer, we should be able to stir up interest in basketball. High School wants

Riccardo Martin. American

It is a tribute to the many-sided Americanism of Riccardo Martin, the tenor, who sings again this season with the Boston-National Grand Opera Company, that recently one of the largest banking institutions in New York—an institution with international connections—offered to the tenor a business position, carrying with it large responsibilities and a commensurate salary.

Mr. Martin was not amused at this effort to drag from the grand opera field America's leading tenor, nor did he consider it a piece of business arrogance. He was frankly pleased, although he had no intention of accepting the offer.

He was waiting for Managing Director Max Rabinoff, of the Boston-National Company, in the latter's office, in the Metropolitan Opera House Building, New York, when an interviewer sought him. Mr. Martin held in his hand a letter from the head of this international banking institution.

"I regard this as one of the greatest compliments that has ever been paid to me," he said. "It is, of course, not a tribute to an artist, but one who tries to use modestly what brains God has given him at all times, and to get at the heart of any situation which confronts him."

The subject of opera was broached.

The tenor waved it aside.

"No, let's not talk about music just now," said he. "In my rest period I forget that I am an opera singer, and try to be a human being."

Reference was made to a trans-continental automobile tour undertaken by Mr. Martin.

"Now, that's something worth while," said he. "That is something that appeals to me when I have laid aside my art for a time. I spent sixteen and a half days' actual running time this summer going in my car from New York to the Pacific coast, and let me tell you I am for good roads most emphatically."

"The autoists of the United States are paying in tires, wear and tear on their cars much more than a complete system of splendid roads would cost."

"I sing," said he, "because I believe—and I say it modestly—that I can give the world more through this medium than in any other. It is my mode not only of expressing my personality but also my usefulness."

Clarksville's goat, and if we will all pull together we will get it. Here's to victory for the Orange and Black and to the best basketball team old H. H. S. ever put in the field.

COMPETITIVE EXAMINATION.

The United States civil service commission announces an open competitive examination to be held in Hopkinsville on February 3, to fill vacancies in first grade, or clerical positions in the customs service. The applicants will be examined on spelling, arithmetic, penmanship, report writing, copying and correcting manuscript and geography with elvil government. Five hours will be allowed for the examination and a rating of at least seventy in arithmetic and sixty-five in report writing will be required. Applicants must be over eighteen years of age and such defects as tuberculosis, insanity, paralysis, epilepsy, loss of sight beyond remedy from glasses, etc., will bar the person.

Application blanks and full information can be secured from Elbert Turner at the postoffice, Hopkinsville.

More Watchful Waiting.

While the United States Government awaits Gen. Carranza's acceptance or rejection of the protocol recently agreed on by the joint commission it is watching Villa movements that threaten embarrassing situations. Villa forces were routed near Chihuahua City and a large number captured and executed.
